EMPLOYMENT CONSIDERATIONS

Last Updated: 12 July 2019

Strategic attack (SA) may be carried out with nuclear and conventional global strike capabilities from all the components: bombers, attack aircraft, special operation forces, ballistic and cruise missiles, information operations, space capabilities, cyberspace capabilities, electromagnetic spectrum operations, and surface forces. Each system or weapon has unique capabilities that should be exploited based on the nature of the desired effects. Often, Air Force forces will have the preponderance of capability to conduct and support SA air operations.
